18:40:03 From Scott 'Tardy' Hampton : Someone needs to invent a tailstock where you can slide the quill out by hand without all the hand cranking, and then use the wheel to lock it in place.

18:40:28 From Scott 'Tardy' Hampton : It will save so much time!

18:42:53 From chuckkubin : Frog tape?

18:43:47 From Glen Crandall : How fragile is the top now?

18:44:33 From Scott 'Tardy' Hampton : My Shopsmith has a hand lever that allows you to move the quill in and out of the headstock easily, and then you lock into place. Don't know why they can't make a tailstock that does that.

18:45:17 From Vernon Danielsen : Please say the name of the tape again
18:45:48 From Eileen Collins : She said 3M Concrete, Brick and Grout tape.

19:01:18 From Don Prorak : Haven't tried it yet.

19:20:03 From Andrew "Seth" Belcher : Are those just blanks from Thompson that you've ground to be scrapers? Sorry again if you've answered this.
19:22:48 From Richard Freeze : Have you tried stretch wrap instead of masking tape to hold the piece to the jam chuck?
19:27:20 From chuckkubin : Do you neutralize the bleach?
19:27:31 From Cynthia Gibson to Cindy Drozda(Direct Message) : your new shelf will be nice now

19:31:27 From George Kabacinski, Houston Texas : do you sharpen the

19:49:11 From Andrew "Seth" Belcher : I think it's decided, no need to consider any other opinions! 🗨️

19:49:35 From George Kabacinski, Houston Texas : Embossing powder works well in the holes, but it is not transparent

19:50:17 From Pablo Gazmuri : Don't fill the holes!!

19:50:30 From Jack, Victoria, Texas : Just pit dye in the epoxy

19:53:35 From Scott 'Tardy' Hampton : Very nice!!!
